

Anchor, Uniserv Ink Marketing Deal

Anchor Software yesterday agreed to market German data processing company Uniserv's software products in the United States. Uniserv provides address management software applications across Europe. The company sells international as well as country-specific versions of its software.

Anchor, Rockville, MD, said it will offer Uniserv products that standardize and cleanse addresses for files being processed for European markets. The deal also allows Anchor to offer its software in Europe through Uniserv. Anchor's MaxPrint document Design and processing utility systems should be available in Europe within the next few month, said Gary Siegel, Anchor Software's president.